

The Apollo Club Scores a Characteristic Success.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENING SPENT.

All of the Numbers Greeted With Hearty Applause With Encores the Order of the Hour.

The Apollo Club.

The Omaha Apollo club was crowned with new laurels last night.

An audience that filled Boyd's opera house, and composed for the most part of the city, greeted its members upon their sixth appearance in this city in public concert.

In the rendition of the excellent programme arranged for the evening the club was most ably assisted by the Music Concert company, of New York, consisting of Mr. Ovide Musin, violinist; Mrs. Annie Louise Tanner, soprano; and Mr. Edwin Shonert, pianist. The Apollo club is composed of twenty-four male vocalists of this city under the direction of Mr. B. B. Young.

The entertainment opened with "The Sailor's Song," from Hatten, which was most acceptably rendered by the club. This was followed by "The Song of the Lark," from Lark, by Mr. Shonert. The performer seemed to be in thorough sympathy with the production, and his rendition of it was such as to meet with the approval of all to which he responded. "O Vision, Enchanting," from Esmeralde, by Thomas, as sung by Mr. Mockridge, was received with every manifestation of delight by the audience. He was encored and in response sang a selection from Italian opera.

It was evident from the spirit shown on the appearance of Musin that he had greeted Omaha audiences before. He played a sonnet of Hadyn, by Leonard, and received a double encore, to which he gracefully responded. Mr. Musin is a master of the violin and was evidently the favorite of the evening, receiving two double and one single encores during the evening. Mrs. Tanner, notwithstanding the fact that she was suffering from a sore throat, sang "Entrancing," from "Esmeralde," by Thomas, very sweetly in response to an encore she sang a light Italian air which was also very well received. Mrs. Tanner had a very high range, more perfect, perhaps, in the high register than in the low, but altogether pleasing.

In conclusion of the first half of the programme, the club sang "Waiting for the Bugle," by Mrs. B. B. Young, of this city. As an encore the second stanza was repeated. The remainder of the programme was as follows:

- Proposal: Apollo Club.
Aria, Celeste Aida: Verdi.
Whitney Mockridge.
(a) Berceuse: Musin.
(b) Valse: Ovide Musin.
Aria From Magic Flute: Mozart.
Annie Louise Tanner.
Airs Russes: Ovide Musin.
Chorus of Pilgrims (Tannhauser): Wagner.

The club has improved since its last appearance, and received unqualified praise last night.

EPISCOPAL CLERGYMEN.

They Meet and Discuss a Number of Interesting Important Subjects.

This morning's session was opened with the litany, read by Bishop Worthington. The attendance was confined entirely to clergymen and their families.

An able paper upon the necessity and the methods of the devotion of the clergy to the scriptures in maintaining spiritual life was read by Rev. Francis Moore, of Neligh, who was followed by Rev. M. F. Cary, of Nebraska City, in an eloquent address upon the same topic. The question was then thrown open for discussion, and a number of those present expressed their views upon the subject.

This was followed by an impressive ceremony, the priests present, at the request of the bishop, arising from the ordination vows and repeating the confession of faith.

The question, "What can be done in our parishes to cause a better observance of the church's feasts and fasts?" was answered by A. G. Jenner, of North Platte, and Rev. J. Nelson Jones, of Grand Island.

The convocation then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

The first question discussed in the afternoon was, "Women helpers in the church. How can their work be made most effective?" Answered by Rev. A. G. Jenner, of North Platte, and Rev. J. Nelson Jones, of Grand Island.

"The free church system in theory and in practical results," was discussed by J. W. Gilman, of Hastings, and Rev. Robert Scott, of Hebron.

Prayer followed last night's meeting. Then the Rev. W. T. Whitmarsh, of Norfolk, read an able paper on "The Church and the Unwritten," that should be observed in the conduct of divine service. He divided his theme into three parts, to wit: The church, the common sense and consistency, and advocated the strict observance of all the rubrics found in the book of prayer, as far as it was possible.

The Rev. Mr. Dorothy spoke on the same subject, his views not wholly coinciding with those of Whitmarsh. He thought the salvation of the souls of men and women was beyond the formula of church ceremony, and was of more importance.

There were some very interesting remarks of the clergy rendered rubrics necessary. For his own part, he had at times omitted portions of the service as laid down, and unless specially forbidden, would do so again.

Bishop Worthington agreed with him in some respects. He thought the rubricary should obey the rubric of common sense, but that in well organized congregations the clergyman had no right to deprive his congregation of any portion of the ritual.

The Rev. John Williams read a paper on "How to Make the Office of Lay Readers More Effective," and said it was to be a collection. When the question of making the church more popular of drawing the masses to them—was considered it should be remembered that the friendship of the world was at enmity with God, and then those who had work to do should do it without thought of popularity or popularity. He asked christian parents to dedicate more of their families to the service of the church and then the necessity of the lay reader would be avoided.

The Rev. W. O. Pearson spoke to the contrary, and thought that lay readers are an aid to the work. A missionary from the west supported this.

Mr. Williams explained that he was misunderstood. A collection was taken up and the meeting came to a close. To-day the clergymen will meet Bishop Perry, of Iowa.

A Burglary.

Thieves broke into Fred Holscher's saloon at 2818 Farman street Tuesday night and made away with a number of boxes of cigars besides several bottles of whisky, gin, wine and other liquors. The entrance was effected by breaking in the back door. There is no clue to the thieves.

Taken East for Burial.

The remains of Howard M. Blake were taken east last evening by Mr. Coburn, father-in-law of the deceased, who arrived yesterday morning. The entrance was effected by breaking in the back door. There is no clue to the thieves.

The Pictures Draw.

The attendance at the exhibition of the paintings, "Christ Before Pilate" and "The Crucifixion," at the Y. M. C. A. hall last night was fairly large, considering the other attractions of the evening. Praise for the productions was heard on every hand.

Sr. Joseph Mo. Feb. 27.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—George Hopkins, gardener for the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City road in this city, was to-night detailed as conductor of a special train from Savannah, twelve miles north of St. Joseph. While the train was being made up in the SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

The Odd Number Masquerade.

The masquerade ball, given in A. O. H. hall, Rowley's block, last night, was attended by ninety couples. The reception committee, consisting of Messrs. C. Woodson, Fred Rowley, P. J. Hand and William McCraith, and the floor committee, consisting of Messrs. D. P. Donovan, P. H. Condon, James G. Horn and J. A. Rowley were everywhere serving friends and making guests feel at home. D. P. Donovan and Miss Mary Hickey led the grand march. Wigner's orchestra, of Omaha, furnished the music. An excellent supper was spread for the dancers by the South Omaha restaurant. A pianist or better managed masquerade was never held in South Omaha.

A Fatal Murderer.

MIDDLTON, Conn., Feb. 27.—The recent bomb explosion, which tore of the hand of a Wesleyan university student, is explained, J. A. Lackaberry, of New York, received on Thursday, February 21, a telegram from Middleton, signed by his son, a member of the freshman class, asking him to send that day five bombs. He sent a messenger from his office to get the bombs, writing on the back of the telegram, "Bombs, such as students use." He had in mind the kind of bomb called "cheese bomb," which explodes with a loud report, but which is not especially dangerous. The messenger failed to find the first to which he was sent, and went to another, and so on, until he had sent out five bombs. The exact nature of these has not yet been ascertained.

Lackaberry, however, led them to Lackaberry, sr., and he sent them to the baggage master of the train. Neither examined the package. When opened at Middleton they were seen to be not what was sent for, but were supposed to be all right, or Lackaberry, sr., would not have sent them. Thus, by a series of blunders and misunderstandings, a collection of bombs, seriously disconcerting, but not malicious, resulted in what at first seemed to be a vicious crime. Lackaberry, sr., once before sent his son such bombs as were asked for, and under circumstances involving no breach of college rules.
